

Academy of Canadian Executive Nurses

Executive Director

The Academy of Canadian Executive Nurses (ACEN) is seeking a creative, progressive and innovative leader to assume a half-time position as the Executive Director.

In this interesting and dynamic position you will administer the day to day operations of the Academy and provide strategic support and direction to the Executive Committee and members of the Academy in regard of the development and implementation of strategies to grow the organization and to continue to position it to influence policy pertaining to senior nursing leadership, nursing practice, quality of care and health service sustainability, nursing education, and research for and about nursing and broader health care system reform.

This is a half-time position with flexible hours and will suit someone seeking to explore new and flexible opportunities for nursing leadership.

Key Activities

The Executive Director of ACEN:

- o Manages operational and tactical requirements related to administration of the Academy's business
- o Supports and the development and communication of policy positions that address the design, planning, implementation and evaluation of nursing, nursing leadership and the health care system
- o Participates in ongoing consultation and collaboration with key organizations to create and sustain networks and linkages with other federal nursing and health leadership organizations
- o Represents ACEN in national committees and working groups with key federal or provincial organizations, stakeholders, partners and health care professionals;

Statement of Qualifications:

Applicants for this role will have a Baccalaureate in Nursing with a Masters in Nursing, or related field and have extensive experience in nursing leadership at a senior administrative level, plus a broad understanding of the health care system and the processes involved in policy development.

The position is situated in Ottawa.

Interested parties should submit a letter indicating their interest in this role, together with a resume to Jody Layer at jody@associationstrategygroup.com by May 15, 2008.